INTRODUCTION

The introduction must contain (in order) the general background, the state of the art literature review as the basis for the scientific novelty statement of the article, the scientific novelty statement, and the research problem or hypothesis. At the end of the introduction, the purpose of the study should be stated. In the scientific article format, no literature review is allowed as in the research report, but it is realized in the form of a state of the art literature review to show the scientific novelty of the article.

DISCUSSION

Results and discussion contains the results of research findings and discussion. Write down the findings obtained from the results of research that has been carried out and must be supported by adequate data. Research results and findings must be able to answer the research questions or hypotheses in the introduction.

CONCLUSION

The closing contains conclusions and suggestions. Conclusions describe the answers to the hypotheses and/or research objectives or findings obtained. The conclusion does not contain a repetition of the results and discussion, but rather a summary of the findings as expected in the objectives or hypotheses. Suggestions present things to be done related to further ideas from the research.

REFERENCES

All references referred to in the text of the article must be registered in the Reference List section. The Reference List must contain reference libraries originating from primary sources (scientific journals and amounting to a minimum of 80% of the entire reference list) published in the last 10 (ten) years.

Writing a Reference List should use a reference management application such as Mendeley, Zotero, or others. The writing format used in the Al-Tahrir Journal is in accordance with the Chicago Manual of Style (CMS) format.
